Charges for Unreturned or Damaged Music

I, _____ acknowledge and agree that the Northland Center for the Choral Arts shall automatically charge my credit card above for any and all fees associated with damaged or unreturned pieces of music.

I further acknowledge and agree that any piece of music unreturned and/or damaged at the end of each semester shall incur a separate fee.

Music is deemed “unreturned” if (1) not physically turned into the conductor or her representative within five (5) calendar days of the final concert date or (2) music that is returned in a condition in which it is unable to be repaired and used by another singer due to extensive marking/marring or physical damage beyond that of normal wear and tear. Music is deemed “damaged” if returned in a state that requires extensive repair in order to be used by another singer beyond that of normal wear and tear.

The fee for a piece of unreturned or damaged music shall be calculated as the fair market value of the piece of music at the time of the final concert date in which the music was used or, if the fair market value cannot reasonably be ascertained at the time of the final concert date, the cost of replacement of a comparable piece of music within a reasonable time after the final concert date.
